Professional Ethics for Manual Therapists

This workshop is designed as an “advanced supervision” for massage therapists and bodyworkers from various practice settings. Through sharing of individual ethical dilemmas, practitioners have the opportunity to share what is happening in their professional practice, receive supervision and support for more effective ways of managing their therapeutic relationships with clients, and maintaining a high level of self-care, both physically and emotionally.

About the Presenter:

Dawn Hogue, MA, CMT, has been a practicing massage therapist for over 10 years. Upon receiving an advanced degree in Somatic Psychology, Dawn found her niche and love for teaching and practicing massage therapy and healing arts. Her area of expertise lies in managing the dynamics of the therapeutic relationship and instructing students about client communication skills, managing professional boundaries and working with clients who have special needs or chronic illness; all of which relate to professional ethics and behavior. Dawn currently holds the position of Education Services Manager at the Cayce/Reilly School and is an active volunteer for the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage & Bodywork (NCBTMB) and the Commission on Massage Therapy Accreditation (COMTA).
