DEAR FRIENDS OF THE A.R.E. LIBRARY,

We are getting ready to renovate your beloved A.R.E. Library! By the time this arrives in your mailbox, we will be underway with construction!

This is all happening because of two especially generous contributions from the Gail Anita Flagler Foundation in Chicago and Shirley Coleman of Georgetown, Texas. The Gail Anita Flagler Foundation made the donation in Gail's memory. Gail and her mother, long-time member Juanna, were a regular presence at the annual Ancient Mysteries conference. Shirley contributed on behalf of her family—the Josh Coleman family—who got her involved with the life-changing Edgar Cayce material.

As the final capital project of the $31.7 million CREATE Campaign, the Visitor Center received the results of the Archival Needs Assessment that was conducted in October of last year. The team of archivists from the History Associates in Rockville, Maryland consisted of Mark Evans, Kelly Lathrop, and Megan O’Herron. The Assessment team evaluated approximately 575 linear feet of paper records in addition to 193 linear feet of audiovisual materials, 60 linear feet of photographs, 17 linear feet of artwork, and 12 linear feet of framed artwork. The Assessment results contained the prioritized set of recommendations for the Archive. The majority of physical materials were stable and in good condition, with some evidence of deterioration from age and use. The proposed recommendations were split into short-term and long-term actions. The first action consists of developing a foundation of best practice standards. The History Associates will work with the Edgar Cayce Foundation staff to develop guiding documents that support the archives such as the Collection Scope, Roles and Responsibilities, Acquisitions Policy, Accessioning/Deaccessioning Guidelines, Deed of Gift, Access Policies, and Fee Structure.

The Assessment team learned that few policies exist to provide governance over the collection, and staff members frequently rely on memory or their own personal research to locate materials when servicing research requests. Without suitable policies or intellectual control, the collection is vulnerable to a variety of issues including copyright infringement and unauthorized access to the collection. History Associates believes this valuable collection is worthy of recognition on a much broader scale. With proper policies, procedures, and a cohesive intellectual arrangement with rich potential for digitization, the Edgar Cayce Foundation can successfully promote and provide access to the unique contents of this collection and Edgar Cayce’s important work for the world at large.

These initial steps will prepare the Archive for the next phase of processing the various collections within the Archive and preparing materials digitally for a content management system. The overall project goal is to have the physical collection in complete collaboration with the digital aspect of the collection. This project may take years to complete but we are dedicated to preserving the history of the Edgar Cayce work in the best way possible. This Assessment could not have happened without the support of several contributions. We are so grateful and appreciative for your continued support.

We hope you are as excited about these plans as we are. With the new layout, we will have enough space to add new shelving as your Library continues to grow in size. Currently, the A.R.E. Library has nearly 80,000 books and materials. This renovation is going to be a major step forward for the Library and the A.R.E. overall. Thank you to all who have been part of it.

The Happening

The library conference center opened in 1975. On March 5, 1975, over 200 people moved 16,000 books from the Cayce hospital to the new library in an event called, “The Happening” also known as the book brigade.

Present at this historic event was long-time staff member, Joan Grasser.

The Happening was Hugh Lynn Cayce’s idea. One Saturday in March, we lined up from the hospital building to the new Visitor Center. It was a very cold, overcast day, but our enthusiastic group was excited to begin this very important project.

Several of us also brought our children along. A small team of “cheerleaders” brought us hot coffee, and Hugh Lynn stopped and talked about how exciting this was. His dream of having a conference center was fast becoming a reality. The librarians were the folks at the very end of the people chain in the library to direct where to place the books.

We did not fully grasp and appreciate what a milestone it was until afterward. It was an honor and privilege to pass those books from our old building to a brand new conference center, beautifully furnished with lots of space for the books. It quietly filled up, and it was a major change from what is the current dining room in the hospital building to a formal library that we all use today. —Joan Grasser

Today, Edgar Cayce’s A.R.E. Library is close to having 80,000 books and keeps growing.

Milestone Reached

Rodney Hauger, long-time patron of the A.R.E. Library, has checked out 1,000 books! Rodney first came to the A.R.E. in 1972 to seek help with his eyesight. He was part of the book brigade in 1975 when over 200 staff members and volunteers spent an entire day transferring more than 16,000 books from the historic Cayce Hospital to the newly built Visitor Center.

EDGAR CAYCE FOUNDATION

In January of 2017, the Edgar Cayce Foundation received the results of the Archival Needs Assessment that was conducted in October of last year. The team of archivists from the History Associates in Rockville, Maryland consisted of Mark Evans, Kelly Lathrop, and Megan O’Her. The Assessment team evaluated approximately 575 linear feet of paper records in addition to 193 linear feet of audiovisual materials. 60 linear feet of photographs, 17 linear feet of artfacs, and 12 linear feet of framed artwork.

The Assessment results contained the prioritized set of recommendations for the Archive. The majority of physical materials were stable and in good condition, with some evidence of deterioration from age and use. The proposed recommendations were split into short-term and long-term actions. The first action consists of developing a foundation of best practice standards. The History Associates will work with the Edgar Cayce Foundation staff to develop guiding documents that support the archives such as the Collection Scope, Roles and Responsibilities, Acquisitions Policy, Accessioning/Deaccessioning Guidelines, Deed of Gift, Access Policies, and Fee Structure.

The Assessment team learned that few policies exist to provide governance over the collection, and staff members frequently rely on memory or their own personal research to locate materials when servicing research requests. Without suitable policies or intellectual control, the collection is vulnerable to a variety of issues including copyright infringement and unauthorized access to the collection. History Associates believes this valuable collection is worthy of recognition on a much broader scale. With proper policies, procedures, and a cohesive intellectual arrangement with rich potential for digitization, the Edgar Cayce Foundation can successfully promote and provide access to the unique contents of this collection and Edgar Cayce’s important work for the world at large.

These initial steps will prepare the Archive for the next phase of processing the various collections within the Archive and preparing materials digitally for a content management system. This project may take years to complete but we are dedicated to preserving the history of the Edgar Cayce work in the best way possible. As the final capital project of the $31.7 million CREATE Campaign, the Visitor Center has already received upgraded restrooms and HVAC; the Library and Meditation Room come next; and finally the lobby will be revitalized once enough funds are raised. We have met with Board member Claire Levy O’Her, long-time member Juanita, were a regular presence at the annual Ancient Mysteries conference. In the Edgar Cayce readings, it discusses color being a vibration: “Consider the effect of the color itself upon thine own body as ye attempt to apply same by either concentration, dedication, or meditating upon these. For as has been given, color is but a vibration. Vibration is movement. Movement is the activity of a positive or negative force. Is the activity of self as in relationship to these then positive?” Edgar Cayce reading 281-29
